

Oscars 2014: Luxurious consolation prize for losers

21 February 2014 EVENT At the Oscars 2014 will actually be no real losers. Even the nominees who go without a gold boy home are richly

© Getty Images

Of course, all nominees hope at the Oscars 2014 on one of the coveted gold statues. But even if they get nothing, they do not lose out - because even at the Academy Awards, there are consolation prizes. However, this applies only to the losers in the King categories.

Nominee in the categories "Best Actor" and "Best Actress" and "Best Supporting Actor" and "Best Supporting Actress" go empty-handed, can look forward to a consolation prize. The same applies to the losers in the category "Best Director". The reports the "Huffington Post" and refers to a press release from Distinctive Assets - the U.S. marketing company that compiles the quality consolation for the Oscar-loser for 15 years.

Overall, the goodies from the gift packages around 80,000 U.S. dollars are worth - the equivalent of about 58,300 euros. The list of gifts contained is long. Among them can be found, for example, a so-called Slow Swiss Watch. This clock has only a single pointer and a 24-hour dial. There is also a high-quality iPhone cover out of the house Vetvik, luxury shoes by Max Martin and Jitseu handbags.

At the Oscars 2014, the loser will be also provided for the physical well: In addition to Cannonball Wine and Aviv 613 luxury vodka waiting in the gift package is an organic apple honey "Bee Free Honee" and "Rouge Maple" - the supposedly best maple syrup in the world. If you're always on the red carpet in the world on the road, will also appreciate the beauty treatments and a variety of high-quality cosmetics, conferred on Oscar losers.

Not only is there a voucher for a hair transplantation specialist Dr. William Yates, but also acupuncture sessions with Heather Lounsbury. In addition, the Oscar-loser of the King Categories take the Wonder Glow Organic Lip Gloss by Diane Capt and several M3K beauty products home with that promise an incomparable complexion.

Furthermore, luxury vacation packages for trips to Hawaii, Las Vegas, Mexico and Japan are said to be included in the gift package. So who gets nothing at the Oscars in 2014, can forget his grief on one of those dream destinations quickly.

Among the actors who have the quality consolation prize of the Academy Awards been accepted in the past few years, include Hugh Jackman, Amy Adams, Helen Mirren and Meryl Streep. The latter is this year for the 18th Times nominated at the Academy Awards. Whether they can take this time her fourth Oscar or another gift package with home, is located on the second March show.